

How-To Do Virtual Movie Night

Movie night is a great way to spend time with your friends. But if you're practicing social distancing or just live too far away from your friends to come together for a movie, there's no reason to put your movie night on hold. Hosting a virtual movie night is a great way to enjoy a movie with your friends without leaving the comfort of your home. And if you charge a fee, it becomes a great fundraiser!

How Does A Virtual Movie Night Fundraiser Work?

A virtual movie night is similar to a traditional movie night, where you get together with your friends to watch a movie and eat snacks. The only difference is that a virtual movie night takes place online instead of a central location. That means you and your friends all watch the same movie in your own homes, while chatting online or on the phone. A virtual movie night is a great option when you can't get together with your friends but still want to watch a movie as a group. Luckily, it's easy to host a long distance movie night thanks to today's technology!

Charge an entry fee:

This can truly be up to you as there are a ton of free platforms out there in which to do this. So your cost should be relatively low.

What Might Your Costs Be?

It might be cute to send movie boxes to all your attendees with microwavable popcorn, chocolates, candy... so consider that and its cost. Big box stores like Costco can help keep costs low for bulk orders. And then you have to think of the cost of packaging and shipping.

What Kind of Platform Can I Use?

Nerdist has a great list and their pros and cons...check it out here:

<https://nerdist.com/article/virtual-movie-night-netflix-free-online/>